This year's technology law update covers a range of bleeding edge issues, such as negotiating with the technology industry over fiduciary access to digital property and wrangling with the constitutional issues around Stingray technology. Hear about the latest in drone law, and come up to speed with emerging trends in technology and agriculture. Get a glimpse into the future with a discussion about the communications law and regulations that underpin a digital livable city, and examine the technology, policy, and liability issues of self-driving vehicles. During lunch, learn about Oregon energy and climate policy, including carbon pricing.
