Creditors’ Rights and Remedies
2002 Revision with 2006 Supplement

• Trying to collect a judgment or enforce a lien?
• Having trouble locating the debtor or the debtor’s assets?
• Need to know what property is subject to execution?

Creditors’ Rights and Remedies can help!
Coming March 2007 –
Bankruptcy Law supplement

With passage of the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005, the practice of bankruptcy law has changed dramatically. Experts in the field have reviewed the new statute, as well as any new case law, and thoroughly updated the 1999 revision of Bankruptcy Law.

The expert panel of editors, including two bankruptcy judges and two seasoned practitioners, has carefully reviewed every chapter to give you the most up-to-date publication on bankruptcy law in Oregon.

Just some of the issues that will be addressed in the 2007 supplement include:

- Revisions to the automatic stay
- New limits on a debtor's right to claim a homestead exemption
- The BAPCPA's impact on exemptions generally
- New rules for Chapter 11 small business debtors
- New limits on employee retention plans
- And much more!

Look for more information on this indispensable resource in March 2007.

Also available now – Foreclosing Security Interests
1997 revision with 2005 cumulative supplement

Foreclosing Security Interests emphasizes the foreclosure of interests in real property, including trust deeds, land sale contracts, and construction liens. But it also discusses the foreclosure of security interests in personal property as well as self-help remedies under the UCC and revisions to UCC Article 9.

Want expert advice on collecting a judgment, enforcing a lien, or locating the debtor or the debtor’s assets? Creditors’ Rights and Remedies advises you on the legal rights and alternatives that are available to your client.

This book contains the latest developments in debtor-creditor law and a wealth of practice tips to make you an efficient and effective lawyer. Focusing on Oregon case law and statutes, with explanations of federal law when applicable, the 2002 revision includes topics such as:

- Statutory liens—what’s available and how to enforce them
- Exemptions—what they are and how to enforce them
- The Internet—how to use it to search for debtors and their assets
- Execution—the postjudgment pursuit of the debtor’s assets
- Bankruptcy—who can use it and how it affects the rights of the creditor and the debtor

Plus, the 2006 supplement completes the revision with new information, including:

- The new law governing disposition of foreclosure sale proceeds
- Updates to procedures for obtaining and enforcing writs of execution
- A new section addressing claims against revocable trusts
- Discussion of new provisions governing the manner of payment at execution sales
- Changes to the homestead exemption

. . . and new and updated forms, including:

- Seven updated garnishment forms
- Eight new forms to use when working with exemptions

If you represent creditors or debtors in Oregon, you can’t afford not to buy this book.
