How do you learn the differences across judicial districts? How can you be helpful without helping an opponent? What is the value of credibility—in life, and in court? What are its components? What are some effects of asymmetrical (inconsistent) conduct on the jury and judge? Outside of court, how can professional conduct lead to true client-centered representation and more powerful negotiation and mediation? Learn the answers to these questions and more with this compact three-hour ethics CLE featuring seasoned judges from different backgrounds, together with an experienced trial lawyer now-mediator, and a panel of practicing attorneys. This presentation is part of the Oregon Bench and Bar Professionalism Commission, which was established by the Oregon Supreme Court.
